Nature of the Data Event

On May 31, 2023 and again in June 2023, Progress Software Corp. publicly disclosed zero-day vulnerabilities that impacted the MOVEit Transfer tool. As a user of that tool, Westat moved quickly to apply available patching and undertook recommended mitigation steps. Westat promptly launched an investigation, with the assistance of third-party cybersecurity specialists, to determine the potential impact of the vulnerabilities' presence on the MOVEit Transfer server and on the data housed on the server. The investigation determined that an unknown actor exploited a vulnerability, accessed the MOVEit Transfer server between May 28 and May 29, 2023, and exfiltrated certain Westat Human Resources files from the MOVEit server during that time.

Westat subsequently undertook a time-consuming and detailed review of the data stored on the server at the time of this incident to understand the contents of that data and to whom that data relates. Through this review, Westat determined that certain information related to residents of Maine was present on the server at the time of the event. Although there is no evidence that this information was used for identity theft or fraud, Westat is notifying individuals in an abundance of caution.

The personal information that could have been subject to unauthorized access includes name, date of birth, and Social Security number.

Notice to Maine Residents

On or about July 21, 2023, Westat provided written notice of this event to potentially affected individuals. This mailing includes notice to approximately sixty-five (65) Maine residents.

Written notice is being provided in substantially the same form as the letter attached here as Exhibit A.

Other Steps Taken and To Be Taken

Upon discovering the event, Westat moved quickly to investigate and respond to the event, assess the security of Westat systems, and notify potentially affected individuals. Westat is providing access to credit monitoring services for twelve (12) months through IDX, to individuals whose personal information was potentially impacted by this event, at no cost to these individuals.

Additionally, Westat is providing impacted individuals with guidance on how to better protect against identity theft and fraud, including advising individuals to report any suspected incidents of identity theft or fraud to their credit card company and/or bank. Westat is providing individuals with information on how to place fraud alerts and credit freezes on their credit files, the contact details for the national consumer reporting agencies, information on how to obtain a free credit report, a reminder to remain vigilant for incidents of fraud and identity theft by reviewing account statements and monitoring free credit reports, and encouragement to contact the Federal Trade Commission, their state Attorney General, and law enforcement to report attempted or actual identity theft and fraud.

NOTICE OF [DATA EVENT] / [DATA BREACH]

Dear <<Name 1>> <<Name 2>>:

Westat, Inc. (“Westat”) is writing to inform you of a data security incident that involved our third-party vendor, Progress MOVEit (“MOVEit”), a managed file transfer service provider. Although this incident was limited to a single server, we wanted to provide you with information on the MOVEit incident and the resources available to you to help protect your information, should you determine it is appropriate to do so.

What Happened? Westat utilizes MOVEit to manage data storage and transfers. MOVEit recently announced a zero-day vulnerability that impacted a large number of organizations across various industries, including Westat. On May 30, 2023, Westat detected unusual activity occurring in the MOVEit instance. We immediately took steps to ensure the security of our environment, and with the assistance of third-party forensic specialists, conducted an investigation to determine the nature and scope of the activity.

The investigation determined that certain data stored on the MOVEit server may have been copied without authorization between May 28 and May 29, 2023. We conducted a detailed review of data involved to determine the type of information present and to whom it related. We recently confirmed that your information was present in the impacted data, and was accessed or acquired during the MOVEit incident.

What Information Was Involved? Your name, Date of Birth, and Social Security number were present in the impacted files. We have no evidence that any of your information was used for identity theft or fraud.

What We Are Doing. We take this incident and the obligation to safeguard the information in our care very seriously. After discovering the incident, we promptly took steps to confirm our system security, and engaged with a third-party forensic specialist to assist in conducting a comprehensive investigation. Further, we have implemented all the patches to date. As an added precaution, we are offering [12/24] months of credit monitoring and identity restoration services through IDX. If you wish to activate these complimentary services, you may follow the instructions included in the attached Steps You Can Take to Help Protect Personal Information. We encourage you to enroll in these services as we are unable to act on your behalf to do so.

What You Can Do. We encourage you to remain vigilant against incidents of identity theft and fraud by reviewing your account statements and monitoring your free credit reports for suspicious activity and to detect errors over the next 12 to 24 months.

Monitor Your Accounts

Under U.S. law, a consumer is entitled to one free credit report annually from each of the three major credit reporting bureaus, Equifax, Experian, and TransUnion. To order a free credit report, visit www.annualcreditreport.com or call, toll-free, 1-877-322-8228. Consumers may also directly contact the three major credit reporting bureaus listed below to request a free copy of their credit report.

Consumers have the right to place an initial or extended “fraud alert” on a credit file at no cost. An initial fraud alert is a 1-year alert that is placed on a consumer’s credit file. Upon seeing a fraud alert display on a consumer’s credit file, a business is required to take steps to verify the consumer’s identity before extending new credit. If consumers are the victim of identity theft, they are entitled to an extended fraud alert, which is a fraud alert lasting seven years. Should consumers wish to place a fraud alert, please contact any of the three major credit reporting bureaus listed below.

As an alternative to a fraud alert, consumers have the right to place a “credit freeze” on a credit report, which will prohibit a credit bureau from releasing information in the credit report without the consumer’s express authorization. The credit freeze is designed to prevent credit, loans, and services from being approved in a consumer’s name without consent. However, consumers should be aware that using a credit freeze to take control over who gets access to the personal and financial information in their credit report may delay, interfere with, or prohibit the timely approval of any subsequent request or application they make regarding a new loan, credit, mortgage, or any other account involving the extension of credit. Pursuant to federal law, consumers cannot be charged to place or lift a credit freeze on their credit report. To request a credit freeze, individuals may need to provide some or all of the following information:

1. Full name (including middle initial as well as Jr., Sr., II, III, etc.);
2. Social Security number;
3. Date of birth;
4. Addresses for the prior two to five years;
5. Proof of current address, such as a current utility bill or telephone bill;
6. A legible photocopy of a government-issued identification card (state driver’s license or ID card, etc.); and
7. A copy of either the police report, investigative report, or complaint to a law enforcement agency concerning identity theft if they are a victim of identity theft.

Should consumers wish to place a credit freeze or fraud alert, please contact the three major credit reporting bureaus listed below:
